MASTER OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (GLOBAL)

This MBA (Global) is designed for business in the new Millennium. It combines core business knowledge, analytical skills and global practice. This program aims to support your transition from university to the workplace, whatever your discipline. In this course you will gain leadership and management skills that will help you understand a variety of cultural business practices, and prepare you for work in future senior positions.

Throughout the course, you will develop your leadership skills through work integrated and distributed learning, working in diverse teams, learning independently and undertaking a professional project involving industry mentorships and a study tour trip outside of Singapore.

In your final trimester, you will undertake an industry-based business placement or consultancy project, to help you further cement your professional skills in the competitive global market.

COURSE UNITS

MANAGEMENT AND ORGANISATIONAL BEHAVIOUR

This unit examines the management theories and concepts underlying individual, group and organisational behaviour. It also engages directly with themes relating to cultural diversity and inclusively.

GLOBAL MARKETING MANAGEMENT

This unit introduces you to the marketing discipline, the marketing environment and the key application of marketing principles. In this unit you will work with real clients in a 'work integrated learning' environment.

ACCOUNTING FOR MANAGERS

This unit provides you with an understanding of basic financial and managerial accounting practices and ethical issues related to accounting.

CORPORATE FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

This unit will provide you with an overview and the skills required for financial management in the fiscal and institutional environments.

GLOBAL LEADERSHIP

You will explore and reflect on leadership in a global environment; with a focus on values and corporate culture in socially-responsible leadership. The unit employs authentic leadership approaches such as teamwork and collaboration to enable you to embark on paths of personal leadership development. Leadership development is facilitated through reflection, professional knowledge and interpersonal communication that reflect contemporary global business settings and issues.

GLOBAL SUSTAINABLE CORPORATE STRATEGY

This unit focuses on strategic planning and actions at the corporate level of multi-business firms. The unit develops your analytical and evaluative thinking through exploration of the role of a business firm in society and the nature, problems and prospects of corporate governance, corporate social responsibility, and ethical business practices, in contributing to sustainable strategy formulation and implementation in organisations operating in a global business environment.

GLOBAL BUSINESS PRACTICE (50 CREDITS)

The unit adopts a project management approach to examine the importance of global project management in relation to global business practice. The unit also incorporates a one-week study tour trip outside of Singapore.

MANAGERIAL ECONOMICS

This unit covers the key economic principles in both microeconomics and macroeconomics in an international context with an analysis of prices and markets, performance of the whole economy, economic policy and the global economic activity. Emphasis is placed on the application of economic theory to real world events.

STRATEGY, CHANGE AND INNOVATION

This unit covers the important roles of strategy and innovation in response to change and organisational challenges. Using a design thinking approach to real-life organisational problems, you will be able to link business strategy to novel business models that enhance an innovation's potential to add value to an organisation.

INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION AND INTERACTION IN GLOBAL BUSINESS

This unit explores ethical mindsets, and the understanding of the complex cultural influences on business interactions in global contexts. It also aims to develop your intercultural communication skills and skills for communication in teams.

RESEARCHING ORGANISATION AND MANAGEMENT

In this unit you will engage in a variety of learning and assessment tasks that are designed as a starting point for building the knowledge, skills, ethics and values necessary for successful research practice. After completing this unit you will be able to begin the process of designing a research project in the field of organisation and management studies.

GLOBAL HUMAN CAPITAL

Using a global perspective, the unit will explore how to create best practices in recruiting systems, performance evaluation systems, human resource development, how to manage a reduction in workforce, and conflict management. The unit also addresses the role of human resources in culturally diverse organisations.

GLOBAL BUSINESS DYNAMICS

The unit examines the impact of the global business environment on multinational businesses, exploring the impact of macro-level issues such as the geo-political, legal, economic, socio-cultural contexts of globalisation and international business. It will also investigate contemporary developments in technology and global institutions on international and domestic organisations.

INDUSTRY PROJECT (50 CREDITS)

This unit combines complex theory with practice, with you undertaking an industry-based consultancy project or placement (in both profit and non-profit organisations). You will apply management knowledge and skills in business analysis to research a business challenge or opportunity, and prepare and present an evidence-based business report and presentation of a high professional standard.
